FRENCH TRIP

The French trip was headed by Ms. Nicely and Ms. Maire. The French Club held a carwash at Chandler Elementary School to raise money for the trip. The trip was 2 days in Paris, 5 days touring through Educational Tours, and 2 weeks living with families in Nice and attending school there.

Spirit Days

Becca Shreck and Miss Taylor get into the 80's days.

Mr. Kaufmann is looking smooth for 70's day.

This year the student body showed some school spirit with Spirit Days. At Goshen High School, during Spirit Week, each day had a different decade. Many people found fun clothes to wear from family members and also at the local Goodwill. On Monday we had a hat day, Tuesday was 60's day, Wednesday we had 70's day, Thursday we dressed like we were back in the 80's again, and then on Friday we had a Big Red day. On Big Red day students and teachers dressed in Goshen clothes, red, and sparkles were everywhere. Over all everyone had a lot of fun showing their spirit during Spirit Days. Go Big Red!

Homecoming

This year's Homecoming week was September 20 through the 24. The theme, "Pick a Decade," was used in association with the new millennium. The seniors represented the 1950's, the juniors the 1970's, the sophomores the 1960's, and the freshmen chose the 1980's. The seniors were victorious after combining all the points earned throughout the week. Points were earned for student participation on Spirit Days, fall pep rally games, pre-game games, and of course, the floats. This year's freshmen class pulled the upset by getting second place over the sophomores and the juniors. The sophomores came in 3rd and the juniors pulled up the rear with 4th place. Along with the floats and activities we also had a Homecoming Court. Seniors Tim Shenk and Missy Stults were crowned king and queen, the junior representatives were Mike Weaver and Erin Mueller, sophomore representatives were Eric Blosser and Tiffany Conley, and the freshmen representatives were Matt Lewallen and Erin Hummel. The other seniors in the court were Brent Conley and Krista Gautsche. Matt Shively and Kristi Schnell, and Matt Holmes and Tammy Garber. All the activities provided lots of fun and excitement for a well attended football game against the Warsaw Tigers.

Stratford

This year Stratford had the largest enrollment ever, 37 students. The class was held during the fall semester and met on every Tuesday and Wednesday evening. It was taught by Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright, Ms. Neeb, Ms. Yost and Mr. Kauffman. During fall break they took a trip to Stratford, Ontario, Canada to see a few of the plays that they had studied in class. This year the plays included, "School for Scandal," "A Midsummer Nights Dream," "West Side Story," "The Alchemist," and "The Tempest."

The Dining Room

This year's fall play was titled "The Dining Room" by A. R. Guney. "The Dining Room" is a play based around a single dining room that is inhabited by different characters in different times.

The directors for the play were guest director Rich Snyder and assistant director Susan Yoder. Rick has directed many productions in the LaPorte and Chicago areas. He has a masters degree in education and theatre from IUSB. He has also been in many productions at Amish Acres.

"The Dining Room" consisted of a 14- person ensemble cast. Each cast member played three or four different parts. The cast members were: Matt Smith, Geoff Lord, Anna Yoder, David Klaus, Caitlin Wade, Alesia Lawson, David Yoder, Rosie Dragoo, Ben Herendeen, Sarah Downing, Lisa Miller, Roselyn Wilson, Brenan Campbell, and Corey Witmer.

The play was held in the Sixth Street Theatre in Goshen on November 13, 14, 20 and 21.

Junior Miss

The 28th annual Goshen Junior Miss Scholarship program at Fairfield High School went great. Five out of the seven competing were GHS students. First place winner, Caitlin Wade, received a $2,000 cash scholarship, runners-up Aleah Voelker and Rachel Jennette received the Greg Leatherman scholarship and the Spirit of Junior Miss. Five categories were judged: creative and performance arts, presence and composure, physical fitness, scholastic achievement, and an interview with the judges.

Bio-Ethics

This year 11 Goshen students along with 8 chaperones took a trip to the Poarch Creek Reservation in Alabama during Thanksgiving week. While there, they built a carport for a church and got to know the people of the reservation. Other places of interest they visited were the Gulf Coast, a local museum, and a powwow that included Indians from tribes as far away as Oklahoma. The group learned a lot about culture and understanding other types of people.

ECO (Environmental Concerns Organization)

Rachel Jennette

This year was a very productive year for ECO (Environmental Concerns Organization). With participation up (club membership was around 22 members), ECO was able to do a lot of good. Missy Stults, senior, was the president and Noah Smucker, senior, was vice-president, while Bill Tichenor acted as the faculty sponsor. Stults says that she is "impressed with the dedication that has been lacking in previous years." Some of the projects that ECO planned this year ranged from adopting animals and habitats to recycling in the school and cleaning up a highway. They also have a $300 grant that will go toward a park.

SWAT

SWAT attendance remains strong throughout '99-'00 school year

by Jeff Riehl

Students With A Testimony got off to a slow start this year due to SRT calendar scheduling problems, but one of their main events of the year, See You At The Pole, still took place on September 15th. Students all over the nation gathered for a time of prayer for their schools and the country's political leaders at the flagpole in front of their schools. GHS had around 50 who participated in the event.

The group started to meet in the classroom of Bobbie Larson (who was the staff sponsor for the group) every other week. Attendance ran from 30-40 people. Discussion topics ranged from how to make the meetings better to how Christianity differed from other religions.

Sophomore Adam Baker commented on the group, saying "It was about time for someone to get God in school." His brother Ben (a freshman) offered that the meetings were basically "like a shorter type of church service." Freshman Kirk Layman compared SWAT to a church youth group.

As the year progressed, sophomore Karla Dick and junior David Klaus took over. The group broke into smaller groups to discuss prayer concerns and what the mission of a Christian should be. They also discussed ways of getting more people involved in the meetings and how to reach out to the community.

To close the year, SWAT had a pool party on Friday, May 26th at junior Jaime Miller's house. Food and drink was served and students had a good time of Christian fellowship.

Senior Danielle Creech enjoyed SWAT during her attendance at GHS and hopes it continues next year. "It's a good thing . . . especially for freshmen because they know there are other Christians in the school." - The Tomahawk

Key Club

Key Club members show their enthusiasm about posing for group pictures.

by Kate Bolduan,

Key Club is an organization that works in the home, school, and community and is the largest service organization in the world. It is a service organization for high school students that blends service with leadership and good citizenship. The club's motto is "Caring...Our Way of Life."

The club's faculty advisor Sue Neeb said that this club is one where everyone is equal, no matter how old a student is or how popular they are, and it is one where everyone works together toward a common goal of public service. Sophomore Leah Herendeen joined for this very reason. "I wanted to meet different people and find a way to serve the community."

History Club

by Jamie Madison

Do you love learning about the past? Can you hardly wait until it's time to go to World Studies or US History? Then History Club is for you. The newest club at Goshen High School is sponsored by J.D. Russell and meets during SRT on Thursdays every other week.

Though relatively new at GHS, History Club is very active around the school. Posters for the selling of Krispy Kreme donuts hung around the school in May. Russell says that the club is using all of its proceeds from selling these donuts to benefit the building of the World War II Memorial.

Currently the club has about ten to fifteen members and has only been operating since April. The co-presidents are Mary Rose Jordan and Monica Larimer. Anyone can join and Russell has high hopes for more members next year. "We have two strong leaders, so who knows what can happen!" Although specific reasons for joining the club differ, all members share a love of history...or a love of Russell, anyway.

"The history of the world is the record of a man in quest of his daily bread and butter." -H. W. Van Loon

Marching Band

This year the Crimson Marching Band had a lot less people than they had last year. But thanks to long, seemingly endless rehearsals and dedicated instructors, they overcame the low numbers and were able to function better as a group. They had a great season in the process, gaining three places better than last year with a sixth place at state. The band performed three songs for their show: "Casius Belli," "On The Wings Of The Chosen," and "Tempered Steel".

Right before state there were several major changes made to the end of the show before the drill writer finally saw what he was looking for. Once the final sets were decided the band worked hard to meet the expectations of the directors. They turned a somewhat dull ending into a spectacular finale that would leave anyone who saw it breathless.

The drum majors, Renee Kruger, Jordan Kauffman, and Whitney Richmond, present the band.

Children Of Eden

This year's GHS musical, "Children Of Eden," directed by Ms. Yost, featured song, dance and drama. It was performed by 50 GHS actors and 12 elementary and middle school-aged kids, who were part of the children's choir. "Children Of Eden" had the largest cast of any musical in all of Yost's years of direction.

The musical is based on the first nine and a half chapters of the Book of Genesis in the Bible. These chapters include the stories of Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel, and Noah's Ark. The stories were told (and sung) by a vast array of Storytellers, who sat and danced in the background of the play 90 percent of the performance.

Most of the lead actors took on dual roles to build the theme within the stories. The lead actors were junior Ben Herendeen as Father, junior Geoff Lord as Adam and Noah, senior Rachel Jennette as Eve and Mama Noah, junior Tim Showalter as Cain and Jephthah, and junior David Klaus as Abel and Ham.

Yost described the overall tone of the musical as an uplifting, hopeful story. "It takes us on a journey filled with laughter and drama," David Klaus said, "This is one of the best musicals GHS has ever done."

The music, Yost says, is, in one word, challenging. It covered a wide range of styles, including jazz, ethnic, and soul. Ninety students (including the pit orchestra) were involved in the show.

Adam and Eve, a.k.a. Geoff Lord and Rachel Jennette, sleep while the chorus sings in the background.

Ben Herendeen, Father, preaches to his fellow followers.

"The real value of a man is not how much money he has when he is gone, but how much he has done to help others."

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 15.5 million by 2020, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 8.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000). The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is expected to be due to a combination of factors, including a decline in the birth rate, a decline in the death rate, and a decline in the rate of immigration.

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is expected to have a significant impact on the UK's health and social care system. The number of people aged 65 and over who are in need of health and social care services is expected to increase from 1.5 million in 1990 to 2.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000). This increase is expected to be due to a combination of factors, including a decline in the birth rate, a decline in the death rate, and a decline in the rate of immigration.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995. The public sector has also become an important employer of women, with 5.5 million women employed in the public sector in 1995, compared with 4.5 million in 1980.

There are a number of reasons why the public sector has become an important employer of women. One reason is that the public sector has a high proportion of women in its workforce. In 1995, 88% of the public sector workforce were women, compared with 78% in 1980.

Another reason is that the public sector has a high proportion of women in its senior management. In 1995, 33% of the public sector senior management were women, compared with 23% in 1980. This is a significant increase, and it suggests that the public sector is becoming more gender equal in its senior management.

A third reason is that the public sector has a high proportion of women in its part-time workforce. In 1995, 44% of the public sector part-time workforce were women, compared with 34% in 1980. This is a significant increase, and it suggests that the public sector is becoming more gender equal in its part-time workforce.
